The Winter NAPE 2012 Business Conference February 22, George R. Brown Convention Center, Houston, Texas

Sponsored exclusively by IHS.

It's been called a renaissance—a rebirth of the US as home to abundant oil and gas reserves, unlocked by technological advances such as horizontal drilling and multi-stage fracturing. But unconventional plays and the technology used to access them have their own unique challenges.

Join IHS industry experts and executives from leading energy companies at the Winter NAPE 2012 Business Conference, "The Renaissance in US Oil Supplies: Delivering on the Promise," to discuss the implications of this new era. Plan to attend and interact with industry experts on topics such as:

- Tight oil promises and challenges
- The impact of new and expanding policies and regulations
- Unconventional play opportunities, recovery strategies and best practices
- Social responsibility and the use of technology to mitigate environmental concerns
- Technologies that enable recovery from unconventional plays and mature fields
